JOHANSEN, FRITS, b. 1882.

Frits Johansen fonds.
[18--], 1897 - 1928.
0.75 m of textual records.

---

Canadian biologist. Born July 17, 1882, and educated in Copenhagen, Denmark. Member of the Danish East Greenland Expedition, led by Mylius Erichsen, 1906-1908. Moved to the United States in 1911 where he worked for the U.S. Bureau of Entomology, 1912-1913. In 1913 came to Canada where he joined the Canadian Arctic Expedition, 1913-1918, as botanist and marine biologist. Member of an expedition to Hudson and James Bays, 1920. Biologist on the Canadian Hudson Strait Expedition, 1927.

Fonds consists chiefly of material relating to the Canadian Arctic Expedition, 1913-1918, led by Vilhjalmur Stefansson. Includes correspondence, biological reports and official journals kept by F. Johansen, chiefly on hydrography and entomology, as a member of the Southern Party of the expedition. Also includes correspondence, biological reports and diaries relating to F. Johansen's field research in Hudson and James Bays, June 1920 - October 1920; scientific reports and species lists resulting from other field expeditions by F. Johansen and others, 1897-1926; and transcriptions of articles and personal narratives of scientific explorers, chiefly on hydrography, geology and meteorology, ca. 1804 to the early 1900s.

Text in English, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, Icelandic and Finnish.

No restrictions on access.

File level inventory available at repository.

Fonds is part of the Arctic Institute of North America rare books collection.
